Members Equality Notice

A member in the centre is as equal as any other member of the centre. It should be always born in the mind that merely being a volunteer or by virtue of membership does not allow any one member to be in position to be authoritative, coercive, arrogant, or abusive either towards the management, Officer, or the staff. Every member of the Centre must show mutual respect towards each other and abide by the code of conduct set by the guiding principles of the Organisation. If found to the contrary, the management holds complete right and discretion to cancel such membership.

At the Centre, every member is equally important, and no member is either superior or inferior by any virtue whatsoever. There is clear demarcation in the conduct of the official duties and the volunteer services of the centre. Members should keep any personal grudges or emotions left out of the centre to maintain the sanctity and smooth functioning of the Indian Senior Citizen Centre. People or members who volunteer for the centre do it out of selfless gratitude, will and passion to serve the fellow members and the community.

CODE OF CONDUCT

- Members must not act in a way which would bring the ISCC into disrepute.
